Haiti 'Must Yield'

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—President Juan Bosch denounced Haiti's President Francois Duvalier Tuesday night as a mad tyrant and stiffened Dominican demands for a settlement of the Dominican-Haitian crisis.

Following up repeated warnings that the Dominican Republic may resort to force, Bosch indicated thousands of Dominican troops backed by superior air and sea support will remain poised on the Haitian frontier until Duvalier's regime yields to Dominican terms.

NO DEADLINE

In an evening radio-television address to the nation, Bosch put no deadline on demands but said that if the United States considers the Haitian situation grave enough to evacuate Americans "we shall continue to think the problem is even more serious for us."

In Washington the state department said families of U.S. officials in Haiti will be flown out quickly because the Haitian government "to some extent seems to be falling apart." Canada and Britain acted similarly.

NOT EASY

"The situation is not easy," President Bosch said. "We don't know what will happen but we know that Duvalier has killed many people and terrorized many people and has caused several bloodbaths. We have to be careful and vigilant."

Lightning Visits Every Room

CHILLIWACK (CP)—Fred Brace was out fishing and the kids were watching television when a shaft of lightning took aim at his home Monday night.

It ripped a utility pole in two, travelled along a clothesline, blew a six-inch hole in a utility room and then split into two shafts. One hooked 90 degrees through the kitchen and out the back door. The other sundered telephone and electrical equipment into many pieces in an office attached to the home. Damage: $1,500.

U.K. Ship Sinks Dutch Vessel

NEW YORK (AP)—An English freighter rammed and sank a small Dutch ship Tuesday night five miles off the New Jersey coast. A crew of about 20 abandoned the smaller vessel and were picked up by the freighter.

There were no casualties.

The collision occurred at 7:30 p.m. EDT some 15 miles south of the entrance to New York harbor and off Shark River, N.J.

DUTCHMAN SKIN

The Dutch freighter, the Pinta, radiated a distress signal saying she had been struck amidships by the British ship, the City of Perth. The master of the Pinta added:

"Dutch vessel taking water, requires immediate assistance."

At 8:18 p.m. the City of Perth radiated:

SHIP ABANDONED

"Pinta crew abandoned ship and rowing to board me. Pinta listing to port."

At 8:47 p.m. the City of Perth radiated:

"City of Perth proceeding slowly back to Pinta and Dutch master going to review situation. All crew on board me. City of Perth does not require assistance. Returning New York."

GONE TO BOTTOM

The U.S. Coast Guard later reported that the Pinta had gone to the bottom.

The Pinta is a 500-ton, 194-foot vessel out of Rotterdam. The City of Perth, 635 feet and 7,541 tons, is out of Glasgow.

Parents Put Heat On Pupils

BANBURN (CP)—A local school board has ordered school two hours early has been shelved because some parents value sleep.

Principal A. E. Embleton of John Peterson Junior Secondary School was supported by 10 per cent of the parents but parents of students who must take buses to school, and drivers of the buses, protested the plan would mean getting up too early in the morning. The plan was shelved.

Mr. Embleton said "the government would not assist in defraying the cost of air conditioning units to heat 100-degree summer heat here."

White spectators, however, remained spectators Tuesday. What will happen next time is anybody's guess.

Bailey and other officers have said that if such demonstrations occur when rough white elements are downtown, trouble will come.

White employees of downtown stores and shops said they believed white persons generally wanted no violence. They said, too, they wanted the issues resolved—even at the cost of some desegregation.

"I believe it's inevitable, anyway," said a Woolworth's saleswoman. Mrs. Nona Melvin, "I'm willing to give a little."

Though closely wrapped in secrecy, talks have been going on for some time between white businessmen and Negroes. The businessmen are willing and anxious to work out the problems.

But neither they nor city officials want to deal with the "outsiders" who spearhead the desegregation movement.

Sick Children Brutalized

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP)—

Thirteen attendants at a state mental hospital for the mentally retarded were charged Tuesday with brutality against their patients, many of them children.

They are charged with 31 misdemeanor counts of battery—ranging from beating a child's head on a shower floor to breaking the arm of another patient.

World In Brief

TORONTO—Damage was estimated at close to $1,000,000 when fire swept the Beth Tzedec synagogue in north-west Toronto Monday. Nine persons were rescued by ladder from the second floor.

GRETNA, MAN.—An explosion in a chemistry laboratory was blamed for a $100,000 fire which destroyed the Mennonite Collegiate school in this city, 75 miles southwest of Winnipeg.

JODRELL BANK, England—Sir Bernard Lovell said the U.S. plan to put a belt of copper fibres in orbit threatening to foul up astronomical telescopes all over the world.

GEORGETOWN—Talks by the British Guiana government and unions aimed at ending a 19-day general strike collapsed.

MOSCOW (Reuters)—A British diplomat's child was used for espionage "camouflage," a court was told Tuesday after a London businessman and a Soviet official admitted spying on Russia for the United States and Britain.

The story was told by Russian scientific official Oleg Penkovsky, 44. He and Briton Greville Wynne, also 44, pleaded guilty in Soviet Supreme Court at the start of Russia's first major spy trial since the Gary Powers U-2 spy-plane case of 1960.

FIVE AMERICANS

Penkovsky's lengthy testimony and the indictment named five Americans—including the U.S. embassy's former agricultural and assistant air attaches—as U.S. contacts of the Soviet defendant. Wynne pleaded "guilty with reservations."

Penkovsky said that in August, 1961, Wynne, his alleged liaison man, gave him a box of candy into which he was to put espionage films and give the box to one of the children of Mrs. Janet Ann Chisholm, wife of former British embassy official Roderick Chisholm.

According to the indictment, Mrs. Chisholm was a member of British intelligence who maintained espionage contacts with Penkovsky through Wynne.

New System Will Nab More Spies

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Macmillan proposed Tuesday night that a three-man permanent security commission be set up to determine responsibility in future spy cases and discipline lax officials concerned.

Opening a parliamentary debate on the report of a government tribunal into the sensational Vassal spy affair, Macmillan told the House of Commons new measures to tighten security would result in more spies being caught.

He also announced that in the future all subordinate staffs of army, navy and air attaches abroad would be subject to military discipline and recruited from the armed services.

'Liven It Up'

Actor Heckles Philip

LONDON (AP)—Prince Philip stood up to make one of his after-dinner speeches. For the first time on record he got the bird. (See also Page 2.)

It came, loud and clear, from actor Tom Bell.

"Tell us a funny story."

The prince, presenting awards at Tuesday night's annual British Film Academy dinner, was undisturbed.

So was Bell. Sitting just a few feet away from the prince he returned to the attack.

"Go on," he said. "Tell us a funny story."

"If you want a funny story," Philip said, "I suggest you engage a professional comic."

Brian Forbes and Dickie Attensrough, both top names in British movies, snatched any further contribution from Bell.

Later Leslie Caron, chosen as British actress of the year for her performance in The I-shaped Room, apologized to the prince and explained that Bell was feeling a trifle better.

"That's all right," said the prince. "I took it in the right spirit."

Bell was unrepentant. He told reporters later:

"I'm not at all sorry. It's about time somebody told him. He should liven himself up."

Earlier, however, the prince had been in lively form. He told a luncheon of the Institute of Personnel Administration that the trouble with management in Britain is too many one-uler men in too many two-uler jobs.

Canada-U.S. Nuclear Talks Near

OTTAWA (CP)—Talks with President Kennedy at Hyannis Port later this week may lead to start of negotiations with the United States on obtaining defensive nuclear weapons for Canada.

Mr. Pearson emphasized that his Liberal government has not weakened on a commitment to accept nuclear warheads for Canadian forces in NATO and NORAD.

NO NEW COMMITMENTS

He did not expect any new commitments, such as might be involved in an inter-allied nuclear force, would come out of his talks Friday and Saturday with Mr. Kennedy.

His reaffirmation of the government's position on nuclear arms arose from a series of questions by reporters during which he was asked about a New York Times dispatch from Ottawa.

NUCLEAR PLEDGE?

The Times said that at Hyannis Port, Mass., Friday and Saturday Mr. Pearson is expected to give Mr. Kennedy a commitment to accept nuclear arms. Mr. Pearson said no commitment would be given or had been asked. Reporters were advised later that he wanted to add something.

"I didn't mean we had weakened on what we consider to be a commitment," he said. He explained by repeating his party's election-campaign position that the former Conservative government had committed Canada to defensive nuclear roles in NATO and NORAD.

He said his earlier comments meant he did not expect any new commitments to be given or accepted at Hyannis Port. The sort of new commitments he had in mind were those that might be involved in Canadian participation in an inter-allied or multilateral nuclear force.

Asked how long it might be before nuclear arms were acquired, Mr. Pearson replied "It will take a little time."

Before any action could be taken a bilateral agreement be-

What's Hot on Hot Line?

Mike Told 'Hands Off' That Yellow Telephone

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Tuesday he has a "mysterious" extra telephone in his office that he was instructed not to use until he is briefed on it.

Speaking to reporters following a cabinet meeting about the possibility of installing a direct telephone link with President Kennedy, the prime minister referred to the mystery phone "that I have not investigated."

"I am not sure what it is. I was told not to use it until I am told about it."

Informants say the extra phone, a yellow one, is a direct line to the headquarters in Colorado Springs, Colo., of the North American Air Defence Command. The NORAD phone and duplicates in the prime minister's residence and other offices were installed several months ago.

On the possibility of a "hot line" to President Kennedy, the prime minister indicated he has never had any trouble communicating with Washington in a matter of minutes.

"I've never found it necessary to have any special communication of that kind with Washington... I don't know whether any special line is in existence or not."

President Hoping For Local Solution

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy voiced hope Tuesday that the potentially explosive racial situation in Birmingham, Ala., can be solved by the people of the city.

Kennedy's hopes were relayed to reporters while the administration kept a long-distance watch on the troubles in Alabama's biggest city.

The president was awaiting word on the outcome of a meeting in Birmingham between Burke Marshall, assistant attorney-general in charge of civil rights division, and various Negro and white groups.

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Brooklyn Dodgers star Jackie Robinson said Tuesday he plans to go to Birmingham, Ala., in the next week or two to take part in the mass protest against racial segregation there.

Robinson said he did not want to join the protestors in jail but that he would find some way to take part in their movement.

The Negro former baseball star made the statement at a "back our brothers" luncheon attended by more than 100 Negro and white public officials and civic leaders.

when the latter came to Moscow.

(Chisholm, now back in England with his family of five, was second secretary and head of the embassy's visa department from May, 1960, to August, 1962.)

THROUGH CHILD

Penkovsky said he passed the "candy box" information to Mrs. Chisholm through her child but did not identify the youngster.

Presiding Judge Lt.-Gen. Viktor V. Boronogolevsky, who officiated at the Powers trial, asked Penkovsky: "Consequently, Ann Chisholm's children were used as camouflage for the espionage contacts?"

LIAISON OFFICER

"It amounts to this," replied the grey-haired Russian, who had acted as a liaison officer between Russian industry and Western businessmen until his arrest last October.

Wynne and Penkovsky, former deputy head of the foreign department of the state committee of scientific research and coordination, face possible death sentences.

MANY DEFECTS

The indictment quoted Penkovsky as telling his interrogators:

"I had many defects—I was envious, selfish, vain, career-minded. I liked to court women and had several mistresses. I frequented restaurants and in general liked an easy life."

WAS CORRUPTED

"All these vices corrupted me and I fell... became a worthless man and a traitor."

Wynne's attractive wife Sheila, here from London, was in court and exchanged smiles with her pale, nervous husband, arrested in Budapest Nov. 2 and extradited here from Hungary.

U.S. CONTACTS

Named as Penkovsky's American contacts were Rodney W. Carlson, former U.S. embassy agricultural attaché, ex-ambassador U.S. air attaché Alexis Davison; former second secretary William Jones; Hugh Montgomery, another second secretary, and Richard C. Jacob, also an embassy official.

Penkovsky testified he handed over films of secret materials to Carlson. He estimates that in all he must have sent roughly 5,000 frames of spy pictures to the West.

Your Good Health

Underactive Thyroid Can Cause Coldness

By JOSEPH MOJNER, MD

Dear Dr. MoJner: I am 70 and apparently in good health, but my ears, nose and the top of my head get cold. How can I improve circulation?—A.L.

Circulation isn't the whole story. Some other things can be involved, too.

Yes, our circulation slows down as we get older. We wear sweaters more often and sit closer to the fire. A certain amount of hardening of the arteries reduces the flow of blood.

You've doubtless noticed that many older people look somewhat paler. They don't necessarily have anemia; they just don't have the same amount of blood circulating close to the surface of the skin.

ANOTHER CAUSE

In addition to whatever changes may have happened to the arteries, the total metabolism of the body is reduced. Less physical activity and slower movements also let the circulation slow down.

Quite another cause of feeling cold is a thyroid gland that is not functioning at its proper pace. People with that trouble are intolerant to cold and lay the blame on poor circulation when, in fact, some of their discomfort would be relieved by proper medication to increase thyroid secretions.

If the trouble is mostly in the feet and legs, Buerger's exercise helps. This is really a very simple process. Lie down on your back. Raise one leg for a few seconds. Lower, then do it with the other leg. What this amounts to, mostly is letting gravity help the blood flow, first in one direction, then the other. But the exercise itself is beneficial, too.

The best way to combat the cold is to conserve our body heat, so bundle up more. Wear socks and take advantage of night caps (the kind you wear on your head, not the kind you pour.) Warm the bed with a hot water bottle before climbing in. Wear a hat or a woolly cap outdoors. Use an electric blanket.

Dear Dr. MoJner: Is there a cure for rheumatic fever?—L.S.

Yes, it depends mainly on adequate rest and the use of salicylates (aspirin-type drugs) or steroids, or cortisone.

Note to Mrs. M. A.: In general, the dangers of violet rays are the same as those of sunshine. Avoid sunburn! And avoid staying under a violet ray lamp long enough to burn. For example, don't fall asleep under a lamp.

COL. DONALD MCGUGAN
... boost of $384

McGugan Given Pay Hike

B.C. liquor czar Col. Donald McGugan got a $384 raise yesterday—a sum amounting to about 1/300th of one per cent of provincial liquor profits in the last fiscal year.

An order-in-council raised his salary to $18,200 a year from $15,216 a year. In the last fiscal year he ran a business which netted B.C. $29,110,945 on gross sales of $103,013,212.

RAISE IN LINE

A government spokesman said the salary increase was in line with that received by other civil servants.

Other increases passed by order-in-council boosted Workmen's Compensation Board chairman James Eades $1,500 to $17,500 and Commissioners Ernest Ablett and Hector Wright $2,900 each to $14,400.

Tories in Britain Take Big Losses

LONDON (Reuters)—The opposition Labor and Liberal parties have scored big gains at the expense of the ruling Conservatives and the Independents in first results from Britain's week-long municipal elections.

Tuesday returns from most of the 86 urban districts which voted Monday in England and Wales, plus some rural returns gave Labor a net gain of 21 seats and the Liberals 14, the Conservative party conceded.

DIFFERENCE

The Labor party officially claimed 118 local councillors had so far been elected for a net gain of 26 seats. But Conservatives conceded only 146 seats to Labor and 77 to the Liberals.

The Conservatives admitted their candidates had registered 26 losses and seven gains—a net loss of 21. They claimed 93 candidates elected.

Compromise By France

PARIS (UPI)—France will agree to a compromise proposal for Europe's nuclear future at the NATO meeting in Ottawa this month, sources said Tuesday. It will not be an "inter-allied" force but the skeleton of a NATO staff established to deal with nuclear questions.

Al Lingo, state public safety director, whose department includes the uniformed patrol, said many of the patrolmen have had special riot training.

APPEAL TO CROWDS

Negro integration leaders called for an end to racial demonstrations for the day after the patrolmen were brought in.

"You're not helping our cause," said Rev. A. D. King over a police megaphone as firemen doused hundreds of Negroes with water in an effort to disperse the milling mob.

NEEDED PLEAS

The Negroes heeded pleas of their leaders and dispersed after four hours of demonstrations.

At least five persons were injured by flying rocks and debris during the melee. Two newspaper men—Mike Durham and Charlie Moore, both of Miami, Fla.—were arrested for crossing police lines.

CONVERGE ON AREA

Several hundred city police officers, headed by Commissioner Eugene (Bull) Connor, converged on the area.

Police said two officers were injured. Deputy Sheriff W. W. Cain suffered a broken shoulder and city patrolman Harry Hayes suffered a leg injury.

Police dogs were brought into the area.

Haydn's Creation Choir Impressive On Opening Night

By BERT BINNY

Haydn's oratorio The Creation is essentially a jubilant composition and, if any performance fails to produce that impression, it has not conveyed Mr. Haydn's intention.

The first of two presentations by the Choral Society was heard by a rather small audience at Victoria High School last night and, for the most part, it impressed as it should.

PASSED IT ON

The chorus accepted Haydn's thesis the Creation was a good idea and something to be forcefully happy about, and passed this on to the audience.

Soprano Ruth Champion was consistently excellent. She has great vocal strength and skilful control and, like the chorus, sang happily as well as impressively.

Tenor Normal Tyrrell was clear and forceful and bass Derek McDermott, while always technically correct, seemed to lack the power required as Raphael.

The second and last performance of The Creation is this evening at 8:15 p.m.

Linda Must Wait

LONDON, Ont. (UPI)—A teenage girl Tuesday lost her bid to Ontario reform institutions minister Irwin Hackett to marry her imprisoned boyfriend.

Linda Cornell, 19, said she "doesn't want to wait" until Ralph Lake, 21, serves his 18-month sentence for breaking and entering.

Hackett's office said Miss Cornell's request was rejected after "much study."

Pining Paul Pelican Getting Some Pals

LONDON (UPI) — Her Majesty's minister of public works announced dramatically Tuesday in the House of Commons that Paul, the lonely pelican, will soon have some companions.

But it was disclosed in the House of Lords by Lord John Hope a post-mortem examination showed Paul's mate, since named Wilfred, was a he and not a she. The lords were told it is difficult to tell the sex of pelicans.

Rippon told the Commons:

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—Fire in the U.S. atomic submarine Flasher killed three men and injured two others Tuesday while they were working to meet a June 22 launching deadline.

Killed were Lawrence Stinson, 30, Joseph Bacanski, 28, and Donald Jordan, 27. An attack submarine with a shark-shaped hull, the Flasher is of the same type as the ill-fated Thresher which was lost to the Atlantic with 120 men April 10 while on a test dive. The fire broke out before noon EDT in the Flasher's aft trim tank—a flooding tank in the ship's stern.

The builder, the electric boat division of the General Dynamics Corp., described the damage to the 278-foot-long Flasher as negligible. The fire was brought under control immediately. The company said it expects to keep the scheduled launching date.

Injured were Stanley Juszyk, 35, of East Warwick, R.I., and John D. Gulkacio, 26, of Westbury, R.I.

Both were admitted to hospital in neighboring New London. Juszyk, a painter, was placed on the critical list with third-degree burns. Gulkacio, a welder supervisor, was treated for smoke inhalation.

The company said the cause of the fire has not been determined.

LONDON (Reuters)—Recent incident here involving Greece's Queen Frederika were Communist-inspired, Britain charged Tuesday.

A foreign office spokesman spoke when asked about reports the molestation of Frederika by demonstrators might result in King Paul and his queen calling off their four-day state visit in July.

The spokesman added it appears "this well-prepared and highly-organized Communist campaign to worsen Anglo-Greek relations has failed. He said the visit is still on and the two governments have not discussed its cancellation or postponement.

First Show Sent By New Telstar

NEW YORK (AP)—The Telstar II communications satellite soared into orbit Tuesday from Cape Canaveral, Fla., and, in the evening, relayed a taped television test program to ground stations in England and France on its fourth orbit.

Reception at a ground station in Andover, Me., where the program originated, and at the Goussilly Downs station in England was steady and clear, but the reception at Fleurance-Bidou, France, was not as steady.

Reporters watching the transmission at a closed-circuit view in New York were told by a Bell Telephone Laboratories executive that the satellite, "from every indication we have, is working perfectly."

Telstar II was turned on for 18 minutes starting at 8:35 p.m. EDT, as it moved southeast of Andover, on a northeasterly course.

Project scientists hoped the mechanical marvel would prove even more effective than its highly successful predecessor, Telstar I, in converting radio blips and beeps into sights and sounds.

Improvements aimed at longer life were made in the new space "switchboard." Telstar I was silenced by radiation poisoning after only a few months.

Basic Defenders

WHATEVER the strength of the separatist movement in Quebec there is one connection French Canada does not want to break—that with Britain and the Commonwealth. Premier Lesage discounts the importance of the Quebec Liberation Front but in London this week he indicated a basic trend of Canadian opinion in affirming its preference for a strong link with Britain.

It was with a smile he said that Quebec had always looked to the Crown for protection against their English-speaking compatriots—because he will realize that the unity of the two primary elements in Canadian life is essential to their common well-being but of any possibility that the U.S. might some day absorb this country there could only be one reaction in his province. The French-Canadian is a royalist and pins his faith on the British connection.

There is nothing strange in this, rather the reverse. More than any other ethnic group the Canadian depends on the rights granted him by the founding of the Canadian state and the religious, educational and cultural privileges reserved for his people. He would fear, and not without reason, that these would be swept away were Canada to become swallowed up in the larger empire of Americanism.

One can scarcely imagine a situation whereby Canada except Quebec would be another star on the Stars and Stripes, but those Canadians sometimes toying with the idea of union with the U.S.A., or not noticeably averse to such a proposition, might do well to follow the precept voiced by Premier Lesage.

French-Canadians would be the last to join the U.S.; they will stay in the Commonwealth, he declared.

In combatting the influences that tend at times to overwhelm Canada as they overspill the 49th Parallel, and not always without intent, it is a salutary thought that the best defenders of the independent royal realm of Canada may prove to be its French-Canadian component.

The Lesson of 1950

THE NEW LIBERAL government has acted with commendable speed in announcing its intention to institute a federal-aid program to rehabilitate the unfortunate victims of the Hay River flood.

Its quick reaction to the present emergency is greatly different to the dilatory attitude adopted by the former Liberal government toward the victims of the disastrous Winnipeg flood of 1950.

Then, despite the fact that several thousand families were forced to abandon their homes and possessions to the muddy and destructive waters of the overflowing Red and Assiniboine Rivers, the federal government of the day joined forces with the Liberal provincial government in following a misguided and cruel policy of withholding until the last possible moment any promise of financial help for the Winnipeg area residents whose homes, businesses or farms were either destroyed or damaged by the flood waters.

Only when public indignation almost reached the point of physical violence did the senior governments finally agree that they would assume some responsibility in meeting reconstruction costs. And though, once it had been introduced, the federal-provincial aid program proved to be more than adequate in compensating those who suffered loss, the damage to the relationship between the prairie people and the two Liberal governments has never yet been fully repaired.

It is interesting to note that the Liberal federal administration has apparently learned its lesson well.

Attracting Industry

THERE WILL be widespread agreement with Mr. I. Robert McDowell, chairman of the British Columbia division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, that leading cities of the province should do more to encourage industries to locate within their boundaries. At least a more determined effort could be made to "sell" local virtues among potential newcomers, if as he suggests industrial commissioners were appointed and their operations adequately financed.

Not as readily endorsed, however, is Mr. McDowell's suggestion that the Municipal Act should be amended to permit municipalities to offer reduced taxation rates and other incentives to new industries while they are becoming established. One objection to this when the practice was allowed was that concessions for a new plant penalized existing businesses, some perhaps directly competitive. But another was—and is—that permitting tax inducements to be offered can result in rivalry among councils which may be overdone to disadvantage. It is to be noted that in this connection the bigger city always has the edge. Vancouver for example could more readily give up $100,000 in revenue than Nanaimo or Saanich, although in respect to the provincial economy it might be desirable to have a new enterprise in one of the latter.

Mr. McDowell considers local tax concessions a necessity if British Columbia is to compete with other parts of Canada on equal terms. Perhaps his hope and his goal should be that more provinces would follow the British Columbia example.

Certainly this province should do its utmost to entice new industry, but the inducements it offers can most effectively and most equitably be provided on a provincial scale rather than by individual municipalities on a cut-price basis.

A Pointer

BYELECTIONS and pre-election straw votes are not good criteria of what national polls will reflect, but in Britain this week has started a test that more truly indicates the trend of political opinion.

Municipal elections have begun throughout the country to be watched eagerly, and with apprehension in some cases, by all the political groups. Unlike Canada municipal councils in the United Kingdom are fashioned along strictly political lines, with Conservatives, Labor and Liberals vying on the local levels as they do on the national scene.

While not mandatory these elections will foreshadow what is liable to happen when the Macmillan government goes to the country.

Thinking Aloud

By TOM TAYLOR

THAT hint of Prince Philip's year or so back that Canadians weren't as fit as they might be is paying off. They've been spurred to show their stuff.

Down in Brazil these past two weeks at the Pan-American Games the young athletes from this country have been ringing the bell, and to some purpose. When the games closed they had romped off with no fewer than 63 medals. If this seems a none-too-close second to the U.S., which won 200 medals, remember they have ten times our population from which to pick their stars.

In fact, in fact, the gold medals, Canada won 10 compared to America's 108. Not bad at all, in proportion, is it? Brazil, the host nation, came third with a total of 52 medals. The young Canadians, you see, upheld themselves with no little credit.

YOU see how right I was in citing the respectability of the town which was honored by the birth of yours truly. That game we espied coming off last Saturday, the Rang-Catic imbraglie, the battle of the Green and the Blue, passed off peacefully. The goal-posts weren't torn up. The theological tempers didn't boil to fever pitch. Mind you the game was a draw and it's all to be done over again, but still... The name of Glasgow still remains fair. Although maybe this was because there were no fewer than 800 stout bobbies on the scene. Alas.

A READER sends me a paper containing news of John Dunbar, the vocalist who lost the local scene benefit of a good voice when he ate his rights for Britain.

He has a prominent place in an article devoted to up-and-coming artists, new faces in the entertainment world over there. And apparently he has engagements stretching ahead into next January. His many friends in the varied musical circles that knew him here will be glad to hear he is doing so well, on stage, television and in front of the radio microphone. Plus new recordings.

While John went back to his native land it was Victoria that produced him and set the flavor of his musical career.

THE Rt. Hon. Lester Pearson, to give him his new title, came back from his overseas visit in a bomb scare that happily was a hoax. He was relaxed and said that while these things are apt to have serious effects on plane passengers with weak hearts, he himself, fortunately, was in good heart.

The camera glimpses of his brief London stay were this out. He was much more at ease than when facing the cameras during the recent elections.

I suppose that by contrast this trip across the Atlantic was a holiday. The cruises will appear, as they do in all prime ministers, as he gets down to the serious business of governing.

I WONDER how many young men of today write regularly to their mothers? Especially when they are enjoying adventure and life in faraway places.

Randolph Churchill, who is tackling the mammoth task of writing his famous father's biography, says the quantity of papers to examine is vast. And included therein are no fewer than 380 letters Sir Winston wrote to his mother while he was a subaltern, revealing, says his son, "the butterfly coming out of the chrysalis."

The great Churchill has many credits to his name. It must be added to the list that he was a dutiful son.

Not many of us write that many letters to our mothers in an entire lifetime.

"I can't wait to save you."

although still loyal to the faith, yet believe in various degrees of co-operation with Marxism. One of these groups, Pax, with three members and a few thousand adherents, accepts the validity of Marxism as well as that of the church. It is rewarded with lucrative monopolies in publishing, and the manufacture of articles of piety.

The cardinal is loathed by the present regime because he is unbending, uncompromising, outspoken, because he often seems to speak, not for the church, but for Poland. He and the church can survive the present situation. But Poland is full of rumors. The new look given to the church by Pope John means more in Poland than anywhere else. If some sort of modus vivendi can be found between the church and the Communist states, its impact will mean more here.

Neither the government nor the cardinal has yet made any move. The cardinal has made no statement on the Pope's declaration of the non-political intentions of the church. But between Catholic and Marxist intellectuals there has already been a noticeable lessening of tension.

The outcome will be decided in Moscow, not in Warsaw. And the cardinal is not yet in a giving mood. No tactics, no compromise is permanent in a Communist state. Poland could turn to increased pressure on the church or to co-operation by the order of a few fearless men. The leaders of the Polish laity, at least, are in a mood of unusual optimism.

Cult Of 'Ins'

By GREGORY CLARK

WE may be mistaken in supposing that these armchair-eggheads who are interested in modern art, sooty painting, smoky poetry and sculpture that looks like something the tinmiths shovelled off the roof when the job was done, are pulling our legs. A great many of them may be quite serious.

One of the earliest instincts of man, as far as sociologists can find out, is to be "inside". In the caves, the biggest bullies gathered around him a retinue of "insiders" who enjoyed his protection and favor. By the time we arrived at the notion of kings, we surrounded them with an aristocracy of "insiders". It was great to be "inside".

But as the centuries progressed, people began to get all sorts of satisfaction in belonging to creeds, parties, clubs, cliques, any sort of thing that would afford the feeling of being "in", and all the rest of the population "out".

These taxes vary from county to county. Some of them cannot be paid. One seminar has been assessed at twice its income. Since the state already owns the buildings they gain little by sequestration. Sometimes they take over parts of a monastery and billet government departments or families in them. It is a pin-prick policy of attrition rather than disastrous to the church.

Even Communists refer to Poland as a Catholic country. And the Catholics receive a sort of unofficial representation in parliament. There are 11 members out of the 460 who, though technically independent, are unofficially recognized as Catholics. The election list is, of course, prepared by the Communist Party.

Six of these Catholics belong to two dissident groups who

Bases in Cyprus

Adroit Diplomacy

By RICHARD COX from Nicosia

BY a unique reversal of classic ideas, Britain is operating most successfully in Cyprus where five years ago strife and violence were rampant.

When the plan for British sovereign areas at Episkopi and Dhakella was first put forward, it was greeted with scepticism, even from Sir Hugh Foot, the last governor of Cyprus. In fact, it has worked so well that the idea is being mooted of doing the same with Aden.

The military bases have no frontier posts, no barbed wire. Suddenly, instead of Greek names you notice side roads called "Buckingham Rise" or "Leile of Wight Road." Only round the most vital buildings are there fences.

Strategically, the heart of Britain's interest is the vast new airfield at Akrotiri. Lying at the tip of a small peninsula, this is the largest RAF organization in the world.

The station commander is responsible for 10,000 men, women and children as well as maintaining a discreet security system that allows his 400 Cypriot employees to do their jobs without learning too much. Unquestionably a number are also in the pay of the Russian embassy in Nicosia, the staff of which outnumbered that of Britain's high commission.

Everything is done to prevent Cypriots feeling aggrieved at the British presence. British customs officers collect dues at Cyprus rates from service arrivals and pass the proceeds on to the Cyprus government. Because Dhakella uses much valuable water Britain has set up the first sea water distillation plant in the Middle East.

More than 12,000 Cypriots are employed in the area, and those who live in them have the best of both worlds to a remarkable degree. They enjoy British nationality but can vote in Cyprus elections. They can choose to be tried by the courts of either country—Britain maintains a resident judge in Cyprus. They pay taxes to the Cyprus government, yet their amenities are provided by Britain.

Relations between the two nations are excellent. Save in the Communist press there is hardly any demand for Britain's withdrawal. Five years ago terrorism stalked the land. Today it is perfectly safe to camp or swim anywhere. There has been a remarkable restoration of friendship.

In part, this is clearly due to the help Britain gives to Cyprus. Over the current five years Britain is providing some $12 million for development.

The results—in new roads, improved harbors, the expansion of electricity services—are very evident. And the $50 million spent by the services each year all but bridges the gap between the island's import bill and export earnings.

Nevertheless, a lot of credit must go to the president, Archbishop Makarios, both for the sensible spending of development money and for the good relations with Britain. He combines non-alignment with Commonwealth membership adroitly and smoothly.

Face to face the archbishop looks younger than his 68 years. In photographs the tall black hat and copious beard of Byzantine priest obscure the freshness of his face.

He received me in his study the initial formality quickly warmed into friendliness. "We may follow a neutral line," he explained, "but we belong to the Western world. Our non-alignment only applies to a certain degree. I think the Commonwealth will continue. It has to play a constructive role—we must try to make it more constructive."

The bazaar of Cyprus politics is still the quarrel between Greeks and Turks. Under the constitution everything from membership of the assembly downwards is divided in the ratio of 70 Greeks to 30 Turks. But the Turks are convinced they are being cheated of their full 30 per cent, while the Greeks feel constantly obstructed by Turkish demands. These quarrels are coming to a head over the municipal organization of the main towns.

Sadly, the only profit from the dispute accrues to the Communist party, the one non-racial political organization in the island. Dr. Katchuk, the vice-president and leader of the Communists, told me that the Communists now control 37 per cent of the population against 20 per cent in 1959.

The Greeks tend to discount this growth and rely on loyalty to the Byzantine church and Makarios as a firm bulwark against Communism. But inter-communal rivalry may increase the pre-eminence of the Communists as the only truly national party.

From Britain's point of view, this is the only real threat to bases long cherished and now retained by a skill in diplomacy which deserves more recognition in Britain than it usually gets.

The Second World War hostilities in Europe ceased 18 years ago today—in 1945—in line with the unconditional surrender of all German land, sea and air forces. A Decent Cup of Tea

Our Readers' Views

To be considered for publication in whole or in part, letters must be on subjects of general interest, not more than 200 words in length, and should be accompanied by the writer's name and address.

It would indeed be a treat to drink once again the lovely drinking water we got years ago in this city. These people who are lucky enough to have their own wells on their properties in the country who get a drink of God's pure water can, I know, get a good, pure, decent cup of tea, something we have not had in Victoria since the chlorinators stopped in and spoiled it.

Recently you printed a letter from a correspondent signed "Disgusted," and an article by Mr. O'Hagan inveighing against the careless usage of English and the sloppy diction which today makes such ugly listening, far too often, on radio and television.

Hard on Eyes

Victoria has natural beauty in its location with lovely rocky woodlands, flowers, climate and well kept homes. However, there are several ways of making the houses much more attractive.

A house that is grey stucco, with rust red roof, blue trim around the windows and red steps is hard on the eyes. Softer and fewer colors make for beauty. Shutters also improve a home.

Landscaping close to a house makes a setting for a house. If people would take down their fences, streets would be much improved, as often every fence is different.

Inside the homes if lighter colors were used on walls and a softer color scheme prevailed the rooms would be much improved. Too many ornaments clutter up in a room and make it look smaller.

VICTORIA LOVER

Yet To Come

In reference to your report that the Italian Communist party may urge "a united Marxist left" it should be pointed out that a detailed study of the writings of Marx and Engels reveals no recommendation of state control of industry as the solution to the problems of the wage-workers of the world.

They advocated common, or social ownership, and the May Day military celebrations in the Russian and Chinese spheres of influence, including Cuba, were carried on in support of the buying - selling, wage-profit society in those countries. In their struggle against other capitalist nations for markets and resources.

A democratic or Marxist society still awaits the future.

$35,000 for Shelter

SPCA Starts Drive Monday

A campaign to raise $35,000 toward the cost of building a new animal shelter for the Victoria SPCA will begin Monday.

"Our present facilities were built in 1968 and were adequate at that time, but our work has increased tenfold since then," manager Dr. David Beeching said last night.

Major problems are lack of space and the fact the present property on Wilson Street uses a septic tank system which cannot handle disposal of disinfectants.

Dr. Beeching said $25,000 has already been raised and the site, at Burnside and Napier, is paid for.

Construction is scheduled to begin Aug. 1. The shelter will be designed to handle up to 30 cats, 16 puppies and 40 dogs.

Bank Stocks Give Lead To Advance

TORONTO (CP) — Holding to the trend of recent sessions, industrial stocks struck an all-time high at mid-day and then eased slightly to close firmly ahead during moderate trading.

Banks offered the chief strengthening influence on the main list as most issues in the group hit new highs for the year. Royal, Nova Scotia and Toronto-Dominion all closed ahead a point or more.

Interprovincial Pipe Line was up 1/2 to 85 1/2 after hitting a new high of 86.

On the downside, Algoma Steel, Steel Company of Canada, Canada Cement and Guaranty Trust all declined in a 1/2 to 1/4 range.

Utilities Favored

MONTREAL (CP) — Banks and utilities featured strongly amid generally rising stocks.

Bank of Montreal jumped 1/2 to 69 1/2 and Banque Canadienne 1/4 to 78.

In a turnover of 22,375 shares, Power Corp. advanced 1/4 to 18 1/2.

Fraser & Chalmers gained 1/4 to 25 1/2 and Macmillan & Co. 1/4 to 25 1/2.

Among losers, Stelco dropped 1/4 to 21 and Dominion Bridge 1/4 to 22 1/2.

N.Y. Marks Time

NEW YORK (UPI) — The market continued Monday's slump in the first hour, then came back to its starting point over the noon hour, only to mark time throughout the afternoon.

Dow-Jones industrials closed at 112.55 for a loss of 1.22 but this was almost fully accounted for by seven issues trading without their latest dividends, which automatically lower the average by 1.15.

Ocean Cement Busy

VANCOUVER — Ocean Cement with an abnormally heavy trading volume of 3,300 shares rose to 13 1/2 in a strong industrial market.

Also higher were Western Pacific at 19 1/2, Smelters at 26 1/2 and Domtar at 19 1/2. The new A. I. Steel "B" closed at 3.30.

Mines presented a stronger front with Western at 4.65, Eldorado at 3.50 and Placer at 3.00. Cowichan eased to 1.15.

Montreal Bonds

MONTREAL (CP) — Bond prices were steady, the lowering of the Bank of Canada interest rate from 4 to 3 1/2 per cent.

Long-term Canadas were up 1/4 and short-term Canadas 10 to 25 cents. Provincials and corporates rose 1/4 to 1/2.

Court Parade

Second Remand Allowed

A man charged with possession of stolen goods following the April 27 RCMP raid on a Glen Lake Road home was remanded for the second time when he appeared in Colwood magistrate's court Tuesday.

Adrian Roy, about 30, originally was charged with possession of a stolen tape recorder. This charge has been withdrawn and replaced by two informations relating to possession of stolen goods.

He will appear in Colwood court at 10 a.m. Monday for election and plea. There are nine counts on the first charge and two on the second. The raid netted $5,000 in stolen goods.

Since then additional loot has been recovered by police, who believe they have uncovered a theft ring and the "fence" responsible for disposing of the goods.

The assize court trial of two Victoria youths on four burglary charges continued with the Crown still presenting its case.

Kelch Mullaly, 20, and Duncan "Frank" Woods, 18, are charged with breaking and entering with intent to steal at Milnes Landing School, Belmont School, Sonke Building Supplies (1960) Ltd. and a summer residence on Gillespie Road the night of Jan. 30.

Two Events Go On Tonight

Of three entertainments scheduled for tonight one has been postponed a week and the other two will go on.

The Victoria schools' symphony orchestra, led by conductor Dorothy Evans, gives a concert at Oak Bay Junior High school starting at 8 p.m.

Second Prison Camp Set for Sayward Forest

Work will be started in the near future on establishment of a second minimum security provincial prison camp in the Sayward Forest 35 miles northwest of Campbell River, an official in the attorney-general's department said yesterday.

The first one, construction of which began last year, was brought up to its full complement of 80 inmates a few weeks ago.

SECOND UNIT
The official said a second 60-man unit will be added soon and that the ultimate development will be five such camps combining about 300 prisoners.

A further 100 prisoners will probably be held on Vancouver Island in the former prison building now occupied as the Colquhoun mental home and due to be vacated later this year.

Inmates in the Sayward Forest camps will work in conjunction with this forest service on such projects as tree planting, trail construction and removal of dead trees.

A spokesman said the money will be used to assist in the purchase of new instruments and uniforms.

Tag Day Soon For Boys' Band

A tag day will be held in Victoria Saturday by the Victoria Boys' Band.

Heartbeat 'Phoned' to Paris

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The heart beat of an unborn child was transmitted from Milwaukee to Paris by telephone cable Tuesday.

Speedy Record

VANCOUVER (CP) — A TCA DC-8F jetliner broke a commercial aircraft record Tuesday when it flew from Vancouver to London in just under nine hours—a distance of 5,975 miles at an average speed of 565 miles an hour.

The aircraft was chartered by the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans Association and carried 131 war brides and veterans for a holiday in England.

The overseas transmission was the first attempted by the developer of the system, Saul Larkins, professor of electrical engineering at Marquette University.

He said the procedure could be used in the future to prevent such things as the thalidomide crisis.

"We could have spotted any sudden increase in abnormalities in foetal (prenatal) heartbeats."

If we transmitted daily samples of electrocardiographs from major cities such as Paris, New York, London and Milwaukee," Larkins said.

The transmission Tuesday was from Mount Sinai Hospital in the laboratory of Dr. Antoine Remond, president of the International Federation of Medical Electronics. Dr. Charles Ray of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., was present to receive it.

The heart beat was from the unborn child of Mrs. Barbara Emshoff.

I Want My Baby Divorcee Weeps

LEWISTON, Idaho (CP) — A divorcee who is the mother of six other children almost broke into tears Monday as she told a court she abandoned her latest baby on a doorstep a month ago.

The woman told the court she delivered the baby alone in a bedroom while her other children watched television.

She said she abandoned the baby out of fear she would lose her other children if it were known she had another baby while unmarried.

"I want to have my baby back," the woman in her early 30s told the court. "If I can have him without giving up my other children. If that isn't possible, I want to give him up for adoption."

Canada Too Poor Says City Archer

The Canadian Archery Association has threatened to send a letter to the International Council of the World Federation of Archers in Helsinki, Finland, saying it is too poor to compete in the world archery championships.

Robert Blades of Victoria, B.C. target director of the association, said last night the Canada Fitness Council has reversed a decision it made last year to send a team to the championships in Helsinki this year.

"They even refuse to answer our letters now," he said. "Maybe if we sent the letter that would get more action out of them."

Retail price of sugar jumped to $1.53 for a 10-pound bag in some of the large chain stores Monday and others followed yesterday.

This latest increase follows a 21-cent increase in the wholesale price for a 100-pound bag which went into effect May 3.

Saanich municipal planner Antony Parr may be asked to prepare a detailed report of future land use requirements in the University of Victoria district, but there is doubt whether the report will be of any use.

Lands and planning committee recommended last night council authorize Mr. Parr to make the report. But some councillors felt there would be such a future when Mr. Parr's report is brought in some of his recommendations would be implemented.

Saanich lands and planning committee recommended last night council reject an application of Delmar Holdings Ltd. to erect a service station in a shopping centre near the Tillicum-Burnside garden apartments.

'Should Have Known'

Bombers' Parents May Face Action

Unionists Picket Meat Shop

Alberta Meat Market opened for business Tuesday, with pickets of Local 212, Amalgamated Meat Cutters' Union, in front of the shop at 1811 Cook Street.

Inside, four members of the all-union staff worked with John Williams, his two partners and their wives.

A union leader charged the work was scab labor.

"The strike is regrettable," said John Williams, co-owner of the shop. "I am ready to compromise any time but it has to come from both sides."

Parents of four boys who let off a series of home-made bombs in the View Royal area over the past several weeks may be called to account for their sons' actions, Colwood RCMP said yesterday.

Police said the boys' parents must have known about their interest in rocketry and should have suspected they might have been responsible for the explosions.

NO CHARGES

The parents will be interviewed today as to whether they knew what was going on and, if they did, why it wasn't reported.

So far, no charges have been laid against the juveniles.

They started by making rockets and then began making bombs. Later they left notes with the bombs, implying political motives were behind the bombings.

Carbon-Copy Ticket Invalid, Judge Rules

VANCOUVER (CP)—Carbon-copy traffic ticket summonses issued by the RCMP in B.C. have been ruled invalid by a Supreme Court judge.

The decision was disclosed in a judgment by Mr. Justice F. X. Collins.

CONVICTIONS INVALID?

Legal spokesmen said it may open to question traffic convictions already registered as a result of the forms.

The judgment results from the case of Georgina Mitchell of Dawson Creek who was handed a traffic ticket Feb. 1. She obtained a writ to halt proceedings against her on the ground the carbon copy bearing the issuing officer's signature did not identify the signer as a peace officer, as required by the Motor Vehicles Act.

An RCMP official said there may be a return to the system of issuing formal summonses.

Similar traffic tickets have been "in the wind" for Victoria city police for some time. They are not identical. Some tickets intended for city use require different wording, and include different offences.

City solicitor T. P. O'Grady said the Victoria tickets had finally been drafted in acceptable form, but their use had been postponed because of need for appointment of special staff in the clerk of the court's office for processing.

Contempt of Court

'Great Imposter' Gets Little Extra

By DON GAIN

A well-dressed confidence man conned himself into a year in jail when he appeared in city magistrate's court yesterday on a charge of false pretences.

Spencer Foley of Vancouver obtained credit at Simpsons-Sears Ltd., 782 Yates, on March 18, by claiming he was a psychiatrist from UBC. His connection with the university was as a cleaner in the janitorial department, court learned yesterday.

Before his trial was over Foley had been sentenced to six months for contempt of court. A consecutive six-month sentence was added on the false pretences charge.

Foley fanned hell more than two weeks ago. He was subsequently picked up in Port Alberni and returned to Victoria for trial.

Four employees of Simpsons-Sears Ltd. yesterday described Foley's purchase of a $70 transistor radio and his application for credit. He had claimed to be a psychiatrist who had been transferred from UBC to Victoria University.

SPELLING TEST

When one of the clerks asked him to spell psychiatry he said he wasn't quite sure, that he "could only write it."

On the strength of his credit application Foley was given a radio. A check with Victoria University the next day disclosed the fact that his statements were false.

Store manager Thomas Billington attempted unsuccessfully to recover the radio and then called police.

Foley conducted his own defence and claimed that the sale was a "perfectly legal" one. "I just wasn't available for my first payment," he was in jail.

He said the part about being a psychiatrist was "a lot of hushbaboo" and went on to blame a Vancouver detective for causing his discharge from the UBC janitorial department because he wouldn't "stool pigeon on a jewel robbery."

LOST OUT ON JOBS

Because of this detective, he said he couldn't be bonded and lost out on jobs with two insurance companies.

"I like to live like anyone else, so I started conning it," he said.

On prompting from city prosecutor T. P. O'Grady, Foley admitted being in the confidence racket.

He explained that the best way to con from a store was to purchase an article without signing your name. "Some people are very gullible. Once you get the goods outside you're in the clear."

Asked about his posing as a psychiatrist, he replied, "Let's put it this way. In the States I've done a little psychiatry and psychology, but not in Canada."

FROM COLLEGE

He then claimed to have graduated from St. Mary's College, Boston, as a doctor of psychology in 1938.

Mr. O'Grady reminded Foley that he was under oath. "On what aspect of psychology did you write your thesis?" Mr. O'Grady asked.

"I don't care to go into that."

The prosecutor pressed him. "Now dummy up," exploded Foley. "I don't want no more of that."

"I told you before," interrupted Magistrate William Ostler, "about your attitude."

Ship Gets New Look

Towed by naval auxiliary craft, destroyer-cruiser HMCS Anishnabek is transferred to HMCS Dorkyard from Victor's Machinery Depot after major conversion job. Anishnabek is first of St. Laurent class destroyer-cruisers to get helicopter platform and hangar, variable-depth sonar. Navy will complete job.

'Viewer' Off Ways Monday

Viewing chamber for the marine gardens to be installed at Oak Bay Marina will be launched from Victoria Machinery Depot at 1:30 a.m. Monday.

"The viewing chamber is 85 feet by 12 feet and is 18 feet deep. It must be launched at that hour to take advantage of the high tide," said Charles White, owner of the project.

MAY 30 ARRIVAL

"Subject to approval of council on the exact location it will occupy at Oak Bay, we hope to have it towed around by May 30, he said.

"Collecting operations for the marine life for the project are getting into full swing now," said Mr. White, "and we are working closely with W. Eglund, operator of a trawler off Sidney and other trawlers off Victoria."

FIRST OF KIND

Mr. White has been working on his idea for about five years and when it is in operation it will be the first of its kind in the world.

"Schools and scientists are very interested," he said. "We hope to be in operation by June 1."

The summer parks and recreation program is planned for children from five to 14 years of age, and the program will run from July 2 to Aug. 15.

Mr. Sinclair, who is responsible for entire operation, said he noted last year that the distance from one end of the parks system to the other is 18 miles.

For Victoria children, playgrounds opening July 2 include Central, Beacon Hill, Oaklands, Banfield, Topaz, Hollywood, Stadacona, Macdonald and Redfern.

SWIM LESSONS

Swimming instruction will be held at the Central Gardens at 9 a.m. Tuesdays for boys and Fridays for girls.

Tennis instruction will be given starting at 2 p.m. July 8 at Central Park and will also be held Wednesdays at Stadacona Park courts.

Special events to be held this summer will include a sandbox contest July 19, a fishing derby July 26, a tennis tournament July 31 and final-day activities at Central Park Aug. 7.

Dinner Today

A regimental mess dinner to commemorate the 1915 battle of Frezenberg will be held today in the sergeants' mess of the First Battalion, PPCLI.

In Greater Victoria

All But City Boost Tax Rates This Year

By JACK FRY

Municipal tax rates in Greater Victoria will increase everywhere but in the city this year. In Esquimalt the increase is two mills; in Oak Bay, four mills, and in urban and rural Saanich, 4.76 and 6.48 mills.

Victoria, with a budget of $10,491,543, managed to hold the tax line at 35 mills by heavy, last-minute slashing.

Taxpayers in the other municipalities, particularly Saanich and Oak Bay, will feel the shock early in June when the tax notices start coming out.

Esquimalt ratepayers will pay an additional two mills. Taxes will be down $8 or $9 for small wartime houses because of the increased government grant, and up about $10 for homes worth $10,000, and up about $17 for homes in the parklands area off Admirals Road.

Increase in Saanich and Oak Bay, for the home of average value, will be more than the $20 increase in the provincial home-owner grant. Saanich will give final reading to its 1963 budget of about $3,600,000 some time before May 15.

It has already given the first three readings to the budget bylaw setting a mill rate of 46.5 in school district 61 and 47.92 in school district 63. Saanich's 1962 mill rates were 41.74 in district 61 and 41.44 in district 63.

The average home in Saanich is worth $11,000 on the real estate market and has a taxable assessment value of $1,825, according to Saanich officials.

531 INCREASE

A person with this type of property in school district 63 will pay $231.21 taxes in 1963, $31.47 more than his $199.74 tax in 1962, and $11.47 more than the homeowner grant increase.

In school district 61, this type of property will be taxed $228.16, or $22.97 more than the 1962 tax of $205.19, and $2.97 more than the homeowner grant increase.

Oak Bay brought in a budget of $2,128,983 with a tax rate of 44.5 mills, up four mills from last year. Tax on an average property with a market value of $13,600 will go up $21.76, or $1.76 more than the homeowner grant increase.

Esquimalt ratepayers will pay an additional two mills. Taxes will be down $8 or $9 for small wartime houses because of the increased government grant, and up about $10 for homes worth $10,000, and up about $17 for homes in the parklands area off Admirals Road.

City traffic committee has recommended no action be taken for at least 60 days on proposed re-routing of traffic to the View Street parking facility.

There are indications that by the end of this period increased usage of the facility may make the proposed changes unnecessary.

Steady increase in monthly revenues plus the fact that last week saw the greatest number of cars on the street, more than 3,100 using the facility, has given rise to guarded optimism at city hall.

The second facility at Yates and Langley is expected to be in operation by late June. The two will provide a total of 700 off-street car spaces.

The parking commission, disturbed by slow public acceptance of the first facility, recently asked city council to consider permitting Douglas Street traffic to make a right turn onto View.

Traffic officials recommended no action be taken, pointing out that as the use continued to grow, cars waiting in line to make the right turn would block the bus zone in the 1100-block Douglas.

Also, officials added, at peak periods the cars waiting to enter the facility by the approved route from View and Blanshard would block access from Douglas.

An arcade of small stores, now being constructed with private capital, will provide similar access to the 700-block Yates.

BEARS NEW MIND

The number of cars to use the facility reached a record 3,186 last week, up from 2,294 the previous week. For the three weeks prior to that the number fluctuated around 2,500 cars.

Revenue has climbed steadily from $1,286 in January to $3,803 in April.

Officials said the months of January and February also showed a marked fall-off in parking meter revenue for the entire downtown area.

A sharp increase for April — from a monthly total of $16,779 in 1962 to $17,508 last month — shows a trend of improvement that is expected to continue through the summer.

tee last night recommended that council approve light industrial zoning for the area.

Coun. Robert Ostler, chairman of the committee, said "it would be good to consolidate the industrial uses which are already there."

Mr. Gosley said city hall officials have expressed interest in the show appearing in the new civic theatre when it is completed.

The show will begin July 1 and run nightly to Aug. 24.

Motorist Aided By Car Clubber

A Victoria motorist whose car broke down wants to thank G. S. (Skip) Porteous of the Victoria Road Runners for helping him out of a jam. R. J. Bartman of 1158 Weyburn says he received voluntary, courteous and prompt help from the car club member when his car stalled recently.

Shows Paintings

A Victoria old age pensioner will give a private art showing at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Kirk Hall this afternoon.

Percy Luch, 81, of 3119 Steel, will show several oil paintings and water colors he has painted over the past several years.

HBC Ship's Log Sold for $900

A Hudson's Bay Company ship's log sold for $900 at an antique auction Tuesday at Lund's Auctioneers. Wilfred Lund told the Colonist last night.

The log records the travels of the brig Dryad and the schooner Vancouver on the west coast of British Columbia from 1831 to 1834.

Mr. Lund said the book was found by one of his employees in a large box of books which had belonged to the Duncan Storage Company. He did not disclose who bought it.

No Change Planned In Traffic Routing

City traffic committee has recommended no action be taken for at least 60 days on proposed re-routing of traffic to the View Street parking facility.

Saanich Parks 20,000 Children Expected

More than 20,000 children are expected to flock to Saanich's 18 playgrounds this summer for organized sports and crafts activities. Lloyd Sinclair, senior supervisor, said yesterday.

Mr. Sinclair will speak on this year's program during Doncaster PTA's annual meeting in the school auditorium at 8 p.m. today.

An inter-park softball competition will be held this year, if transportation problems can be worked out, he said.

Saanich Subdivision

Building Plans Get Nod

Saanich lands and planning committee has given the nod to a proposal for subdivision of the 204-acre Turner farm north of Cordova Bay.

Committee recommended that council approve in principle the proposal submitted by Milton A. Tidale for development of the area in three stages.

PLANS IN LINE

Municipal planner Antony Parr said that most of Mr. Tidale's plans were "in line with our overall thoughts on the direction and location of urban residential development" near existing services offered by the municipality.

The property is situated between Noble Road and Cordova Bay Road, and east of Lochside.

Phase one of the plan calls for subdivision of 80 1/2-acre lots with 100-foot frontages, along existing paved roads around the perimeter.

Phase two would be subdivision of about 140 lots of similar size around the inside of the property.

Industrial Area Between Centres?

Saanich is now considering use of the area between the Town and Country shopping centre and the Mayfair shopping centre for light industrial purposes.

Lands and planning committee last night recommended that council approve light industrial zoning for the area.

Coun. Robert Ostler, chairman of the committee, said "it would be good to consolidate the industrial uses which are already there."

Mr. Gosley said city hall officials have expressed interest in the show appearing in the new civic theatre when it is completed.

New Church 'Radical'

The congregation will surround the altars in a radically new Roman Catholic church being built on Burnside Road overlooking the Trans-Canada Highway.

Until the opening of the church, mass will continue to be offered in the auditorium of a nearby drive-in theatre.

Diamond shaped with four triangular window openings below the roof line, the church is planned to hold a congregation of 375.

The design by Victoria architect John Di Castri makes provision for expansion to hold a further 200.

The new parish was created by the late Bishop Hill on the Feast of St. Joseph, March 19 last year. Monsignor Michael O'Connell has been appointed to the parish.

Altar of sacrifice and altar of the blessed sacrament will be close to the centre of the church. Because of the unusual design, the priest will be facing his congregation while saying mass. Instead of having his back to them.

Smile Show Gets Home In Oak Bay

A home has been found for Gerry Gosley's Smile Show for this year—the auditorium of Oak Bay Junior High School.

"The Oak Bay auditorium might not be ideal, but it is a very well-equipped theatre," Mr. Gosley said last night.

"After all, beggars can't be choosers and if our many Victoria friends get behind us as they have done in the past we may not have to be so apprehensive about filling the many extra seats."

Mr. Gosley said city hall officials have expressed interest in the show appearing in the new civic theatre when it is completed.

The show will begin July 1 and run nightly to Aug. 24.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I see "Former Admirer" was shocked when she read you thought it was all right for a child to have a funeral for a pet cat or dog. Well, I have another shock for her.

Here, in our beautiful city of Grand Rapids, we have a pet cemetery.

This pet cemetery has some lovely headstones and expensive monuments which have been erected by loving people in memory of their pets. One can always tell where the fresh graves are because of the wreaths and bouquets of flowers. The people who bury their pets here are not crazy. They are normal individuals who enjoyed their pets and want to give them a nice final resting place.

I feel sorry for anyone who doesn't know the wonderful world of animals. They are missing one of life's greatest joys.—MICHIGANDER

Dear Mich: There is something heart-warming and lovely about a youngster's funeral for his pet. But pet funerals belong to a child's world.

Adults who erect headstones for dead animals should re-read St. Paul to the Corinthians: "When I was a child I spoke as a child, I felt as a child, I thought as a child. Now that I have become a man I have put away the things of a child." I add, humbly, "Amen."

Dear Ann Landers: Most people write to you about their troubles. I want to write to you about my blessings.

It's a woman. And I am deeply in love. If you think I'm a teenager let me assure you I am not. I have loved this woman for 41 years. The road has been a rocky one. We've had as much trouble or more than many of our friends. I've gone broke. There has been illness—and tragedy—but never once did I doubt that I was a lucky man because I had this jewel by my side. We have seven wonderful children. And they are wonderful because of her—not me. She has been the strength and the guiding light of our family.

Her hair isn't golden any more and her hands are work-worn. But to me she is the most beautiful woman in the world. I wouldn't trade her for Venus. That's love.—EL PASO

Dear El Paso: You bet it is. How blessed you are to have these wonderful feelings. And she is blessed, too—to be so appreciated and loved.

Dear Ann Landers: There comes a time in a woman's life when she passes from being a "maiden" to an old maid. I think I've reached the crossover for dinner three nights a week and the other four nights he phones to "check." He is insanely jealous and becomes furious if my line is busy because he doesn't want me talking to anyone else.

He says nothing about marriage but wants to make sure I am "saving myself for him." I am 30. He is 37. What's the word?—GYPSY

Dear Gypsy: The word is "Good-bye" and I hope you use it soon. If this moocher were interested in marriage you'd be his wife by this time instead of his short-order cook. The guy isn't 37 years old and a bachelor for nothing. Get with it, Petunia.

Wanted: Speech Teaching

WINNIPEG (CP) — If Canada is to maintain its rightful place in world affairs it must be represented by those who can speak, as well as think, clearly, says Mrs. John Dyer, an authority on speech arts.

She says Canada's future leaders should receive speech training as part of the school curriculum.

Barbara McMaster Wed in Vancouver

Of interest to her many friends in Victoria was the wedding in Vancouver Sunday, May 5, of Barbara Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McMaster of Victoria, to Mr. Nikola Sirinic, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Sirinic, Yugoslavia.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white, full-length gown of organza. It featured a scooped neckline and bell skirt swept back into three bustle bows and slight train. Her veil was elbow-length and her bouquet red roses and stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, the gift of the groom.

The bride was attended by her sister Kathryn, who wore a ribbon dress in pale pink. She carried white carnations.

The best man was William Visevich and the ushers were the bride's brother Robert and cousin Terence Godkin.

The bride's uncle, Rev. N. J. Godkin, officiated at the ceremony, which took place in St. Catherine's Anglican Church. Later, at the reception in Capilano Gardens, he proposed the toast to the bride.

The bride's going-away outfit was a cream wool suit with beige accessories. Her corsage was cymbidium orchids. Following their honeymoon, the couple will reside in California.

CHRIST CHURCH GUILD

Christ Church Cathedral Women's Parish Guild will meet May 10 at 2:30 p.m. in Memorial Hall.

Is a jail sentence news?

Most of the time, the answer is "yes". Newspapers report crime because it is in the public interest.

Without crime reporting, you could get only part of the day's news. Criminals could continue to break the law in a cloak of secrecy. Potential criminals, ignorant of the courts' action against offenders, would not be deterred.

Most known criminals shun publicity. Publicity is one of the law's most powerful weapons in its fight against crime. For, if the public is uninformed, there can be no public pressure to stamp out crime.

Wrong-doing, on any scale, cannot withstand the pressure of newspaper-aroused public opinion. To suppress news about crime, doesn't suppress crime! Consider this when you read a newspaper report of a crime or a jail sentence. You'll know that your daily newspaper is acting in your best interests—as always.

Gypsy Guitarist Has Own Music

By ALAN WALKER
TORONTO (CP) — A short, swarthy man in a dull blue suit sat silently in the middle of a bare stage and stared at his worn guitar.

Suddenly his brown eyes flashed fire and his fingers melted into a blur. With an explosion of Spanish gypsy rhythms, world-famous Flamenco guitarist Carlos Montoya began another concert.

A few hours before this Toronto appearance, Mr. Montoya and his American wife Sally, who fills in occasional gaps in his halting English, talked about their roaming life that will cover continents as far away as Australia in 178 concerts this year.

Girl's Best Friend Not Noble Diamond

BIOT, France (Reuters) — Diamonds are not a girl's best friend, says an internationally known designer of jewelry.

Swedish-born Torun Bulow-Hube, who works in a sunny balcony studio in this French Riviera village, believes that women's jewelry must be sensual.

KILLING EFFECT

"Diamonds have a killing effect on women," says the green-eyed, shapely designer. "You see the diamonds but not the woman."

"Good jewelry reminds men of a woman's beauty. Jewelry only looks good on a woman if it expresses her inner feeling of wanting to appeal to a man."

Torun has achieved international recognition almost overnight.

Little more than a decade ago this master silversmith lived a struggling existence in a Paris Left Bank hotel.

Now Brigitte Bardot wears a Torun silver circle necklace with Venetian drop pendant. Pablo Picasso sports a pair of her beach pebble cufflinks.

The fine arts museums of Copenhagen and Oslo have held "One - woman" Torun jewelry shows.

Torun, 35, discovered that women in Europe had a choice between impossibly expensive jewels and cheap chain-store stuff.

"I thought of those millions of young women all over the world who commute between suburban homes and city offices and have not the time to return home at night to change before going out on a date," she says.

For them she created a simple circle necklace on which a dozen different kinds of pendant might be hooked, with matching earrings. Some pendants were just ordinary beach pebbles, naturally polished by the waves, others drops of Venetian glass and specially cut semi-precious stones.

Bugs Getting Worse

By M. V. CHENNET, FRMS

I can't go along with Rachel Carson in all the contentions she makes in her controversial book, "Silent Spring," but I am forced to agree with her on one point—the bugs are getting worse. In spite of all the high-power insecticides on the market today, insect infestations seem to be more severe than ever.

Nowadays there isn't any perhaps or maybe about thrips—unless you maintain a constant protective treatment, you can't be quite sure your flowers will be chipped up and the typical squarish patches of damage will show up on the foliage.

It isn't very often you actually see thrips, for they are such tiny insects, barely a 30th of an inch long, and even a bad infestation looks like a light dusting of pepper. Small as they are, it hardly seems possible they could do so much damage, but they seem to scrape away the outer layer of skin on the leaves and flower petals, leaving silvery disfiguring patches.

Spraying with DDT or malathion every 10 days throughout the growing season is effective. Rose Dust works even better, as liquid sprays don't stick too well to the waxy coating on the gladiolus leaf. In either case, it is a lot of work, for it is necessary to get out there and treat your plants every 10 days—often in showery weather.

Obviously, what we need for gladiolus is a systemic insecticide. A systemic, in case the term is new to you, is a poison which is taken up into the plant's system, making it a sort of booby trap for bugs. As the insecticide is in the sap and tissues, the whole plant is lethal to any sucking or leaf-chewing critter that samples it.

As the stuff is inside the plant and can't be washed off, it lasts a long time—an advantage only on non-edible plants, for poisonous sap isn't exactly desirable in lettuce or apples. Another and even bigger advantage, though, is the selective action of such an insecticide, for it poisons ONLY the bugs which are feeding upon our plants. The spiders, ladybird beetles and other friendly critters that help keep down pests are unharmed.

There is a fly in the ointment as well as on the glads, though. The true systemic insecticides, with few exceptions, are so violently poisonous that they aren't safe to have around the house, nor are they easy to come by. Sodium selenate, for instance, is as dangerous that professional growers using this chemical must wear gas masks, goggles, protective rubber clothing and rubber gloves.

While the true systemic chemicals are not practicable for home use, then, it isn't generally realized that some of our common and much less dangerous insecticides are at least partially systemic in their action. Chlordane is one of these, a small portion of which is taken up into the system of the treated plant, yet it can be handled in perfect safety.

I am getting very good control of thrips in gladiolus simply by dusting my bulbs before planting with 5 per cent chlordane dust, and sprinkling a little more of the powder over the bulbs in their trench while planting them. Apparently, enough chlordane is taken up in the sap to do the job. Whether it is killing the thrips or only making my glads distasteful to them, I wouldn't know, but plants so treated were left unsprayed last summer and came through without any thrips damage.

If your bulbs are already planted, I would suggest watering them thoroughly with chlordane emulsion, one tablespoon per gallon.

JOHN CROSBY Listens to Menuhin's Wife

She Hates—With a Smile

LONDON—What I like about Diana Menuhin, who is the wife of the celebrated violinist Yehudi Menuhin, is that she loathes the 20th century so winningly.

Innumerable people hate modern times grudgingly, but Diana hates it with a smile. One of my favorite pastimes is to listen to her denounce the 20th century. She does it in such high good spirits. The other day I took her to lunch. "I loathe the system," she commented. "They look as if they had already been eaten." She picked up an enormous shrimp. "It looks Chinese, doesn't it, and angry? I must eat you shrimp." And straightaway, she did.

She loathes the new concert halls and loves the old ones, even Albert Hall, whose acoustics she admits are rather odd. "You hear every note in that hall either twice or not at all. But it takes 100 years for a concert hall to get a patina on it. I like the old concert halls. They have the sweat of 100 artists—all the old singers and artists. They're full of ghosts. The new halls have nothing. No atmosphere. If they did have atmosphere, the air-conditioning would pump it out. Our antiseptic world! Horrible!"

She goes to almost every one of her husband's hundreds of concerts but never listens to his records, and, in fact, doesn't own any.

"I loathe mechanical things," she said crisply. "I loathe the telephone because I can't talk to people I can't see. I loathe airplanes. They frighten me to death. I'm known to every airline in the world. The moment I walk into an airplane, the hostess says, 'Madame, your champagne is cooling.' I never drink champagne. It goes straight to my head—except at 33,000 feet. Then I stay drunk. When they see me sobering up, they say, 'You'd better have some more champagne. Your knees are knocking together.'"

For travelling she much prefers trains. "I passionately adore North American trains."

I like to get on the train and just go to bed for two days and three nights and read six books cover to cover. No, I don't like French trains. They're too fast. They get you there. American trains never get there."

She fell to talking about her

Crippled Girl May Walk Thanks to Liz

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

Fair is fair and it is only fair to report that Elizabeth Taylor has been very good to Maria, the little crippled German girl she adopted before the breakup of her marriage with Eddie Fisher. Maria's leg has been operated upon by a top Harley Street surgeon, and there is hope that in time, she will be able to walk normally—thanks to Liz.

When I was in London I talked to astrologer Maurice Woodruff and I asked for a prognosis on the Liz-Dick affair. "What I said before is still true," he replied. "Liz and Dick will never marry. By the time they can, they will be sick of each other."

Jackie Gleason's round house at Peekskill, New York, was copied by Bettino on the Mediterranean coast. The former model, who was the constant companion of Prince Ali Khan before his fatal auto crash, plans to spend her free time in her round castle, hoping for peace in her solitude.

Jimmy Stewart will be playing the Paul Ford part in the movie version of the George Abbot comedy hit, Never Too Late. And guess who has been ogling the Maureen O'Halloran role? Katherine Hepburn no less. The part would be a relief from Katie's recent drug-dredged Long Day's Journey Into Night.

Alain Delon and Romy Schneider are meeting in Rome where she has just finished her role in The Cardinal. And we can expect an announcement. I am not sure at this distance whether it is for or agin marriage. If they don't know their minds by now, they never will. This is one of the longest engagements in film history.

CHARLES McDOWELL Cracks Down on Groceries

We Live in an Age of Overspill

"I have been thinking about the unlikability," I said to my wife the other day.

"The what?" she said. "The grocery bill," I said. "If McNamara can tame the Pentagon, bring the generals to heel and assert the civil authority over the runaway defense budget, I can do something about the grocery bill in this house, and that is what I mean to do."

"You are going to dismantle our nourishment capability. I can see it in your eyes," she said bitterly. She is jealous of her power as any general. "No," I said coolly. "I am going to establish positive management control over the grocery bill without sacrificing our capability for flexible response to hunger. I am going to retain the options. Now, I propose to begin with a business-like study of our crispware arsenal."

"What-ware?" she said. "Crispware. I have project-categorized our grocery requirements in three classifications. First, hardware, including meat and vegetables. Second, software, including eggs and fluids. Third, crispware, which is dry cereal. I must ask you now, what is our present on-site crispware inventory?"

"Well," she said, "on the shelf in the cabinet we have Sugar Smacks, Frosted Flakes, Rice Krispies, Alpha-Bits and 40 per cent Bran Flakes."

"Can you quantify those for me, please?" I asked briskly. "Quantify 'em? I don't even eat 'em. As you very well know, the sole function of the dry cereal is to hold the children until I can get breakfast ready."

"Yes, I am quite aware of the deterrent capability of the crispware. I am trying to find out the on-site quantity of each."

"The mean usable supply level runs about half-a-box of each. We use the medium-size box," she said.

"We should begin immediately to contract for large-size boxes so as to maximize the per-unit economies," I decreed. "The medium-size boxes are huge," she protested. "Any larger box would be unmanageable. We have to position the boxes on their sides as it is to get them onto the shelf. As a matter of fact, we are losing some cereal—pardon me, crispware—because it tends to spill out when the boxes are lying on their sides."

"Overspill," I said. "We live in an age of overspill. That is why I want to retain the options. We can come back to this. Right now, let me come to my main point."

"Pray do," she said. "The overriding point is that we are employing five crispware systems to perform on delectable, delicious. This is redundant, uneconomic, and trends toward infinite containment, which maximizes the dangerous possibility of escalation."

"Look, Buster, we have three children, and each has a favorite cereal, and they need a change now and then. What can I do?"

"Henceforth," I replied, asserting authority, "crispware procurement will be restricted to two systems, in addition to a minimal level of a third variety, to be acquired on a short lead-time basis to provide three-phase flexibility, while the other two kinds are phased out. Rice Krispies will become our major deterrent. "More bang for a buck, eh? Well, the children will never stand for it."

"I'm afraid you're right."

'Mad Tyrant'

Haiti 'Must Yield'

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—President Juan Bosch denounced Haiti's President Francois Duvalier Tuesday night as a mad tyrant and stiffened Dominican demands for a settlement of the Dominican-Haitian crisis.

Following up repeated warnings that the Dominican Republic may resort to force, Bosch indicated thousands of Dominican troops backed by superior air and sea support will remain poised on the Haitian frontier until Duvalier's regime yields to Dominican terms.

NO DEADLINE
In an evening radio-television address to the nation, Bosch put no deadline on demands but said that if the United States considers the Haitian situation grave enough to evacuate Americans "we shall continue to think the problem is even more serious for us."

In Washington the state department said families of U.S. officials in Haiti will be flown out quickly because the Haitian government "to some extent seems to be falling apart." Canada and Britain acted similarly.

NOT EASY
"The situation is not easy," President Bosch said. "We don't know what will happen but we know that Duvalier has killed many people and has caused several bloodbaths. We have to be careful and vigilant."

Lightning Visits Every Room

CHILLIWACK (CP)—Fred Braese was out fishing and the kids were watching television when a shaft of lightning took aim at his home Monday night.

It ripped a utility pole in two, travelled along a clothesline, blew a six-inch hole in a utility room and then split into two shafts. One hooked 90 degrees through the kitchen and out the back door. The other sundered telephone and electrical equipment into many pieces in an office attached to the home. Damage: $1,300.

U.K. Ship Sinks Dutch Vessel

NEW YORK (AP)—An English freighter rammed and sank a small Dutch ship Tuesday night five miles off the New Jersey coast. A crew of about 20 abandoned the smaller vessel and were picked up by the freighter.

There were no casualties.

SOUTH OF NEW YORK
The collision occurred at 7:30 p.m. EDT some 15 miles south of the entrance to New York harbor and off Shark River, N.J.

DISTRESS SIGNAL
The Dutch freighter, the Pinta, radioed a distress signal saying she had been struck amidships by the British ship, the City of Perth. The master of the Pinta added:

"Dutch vessel taking water, requires immediate assistance."

At 8:47 p.m., the City of Perth radioed:

SHIP ABANDONED

"Pinta crew abandoned ship and rowing to board me. Pinta listing to port."

At 8:47 p.m., the city of Perth radioed:

"City of Perth proceeding slowly back to Pinta and Dutch master going to review situation. All crew on board me. City of Perth does not require assistance. Returning New York."

GONE TO BOTTOM

The U.S. Coast Guard later reported that the Pinta had gone to the bottom.

The Pinta is a 500-ton, 194-ton vessel out of Rotterdam. The City of Perth, 45 feet and 7,547 tons, is out of Glasgow.

COSTA, MESA, Calif. (AP)—Twelve were arrested Tuesday. The 13th is being sought. Three of the workers have since left Fairview State Hospital at Costa Mesa. The remaining 10 were ordered suspended Tuesday.

The investigation was launched after three women who visited the 1,946-bed institution last March 29 called conditions in its security wards "the worst we have ever seen."

JAW BROKEN

Investigators said they uncovered instances in which attendants: broke one patient's jaw and another's arm; tied a girl patient's arms behind her and whipped her unconscious; choked other patients into unconsciousness; bit a child's eye; pounded patients' heads against a cement floor.

TORONTO—Damage was estimated at close to $1,000,000 when fire swept the Beth Tzedec synagogue in northwest Toronto Monday. Nine persons were rescued by ladder from the second floor.

Parents Put Heat On Pupils

KAMLOOPE (CP)—A head-the-heat plan to open a school two hours early has been shelved because some parents value sleep.

Principal A. E. Embleton of John Peterson Junior Secondary School was supported by 78 per cent of the parents but parents of students who must take buses to school, and drivers of the buses, protested the plan would mean getting up too early in the morning. So the plan was shelved.

Mr. Embleton said the government would not assist in defraying the cost of air conditioning units to beat 100-degree summer heat here.

Canada-U.S. Nuclear Talks Near

OTTAWA (CP)—Talks with President Kennedy at Hyannis Port later this week may lead to start of negotiations with United States on obtaining defense nuclear weapons for Canadian forces at home and abroad, Prime Minister Pearson said Tuesday.

Mr. Pearson emphasized that his Liberal government has not weakened on a commitment to accept nuclear warheads for Canadian forces in NATO and NORAD.

NO NEW COMMITMENTS

He did not expect any new commitments, such as might be involved in an inter-allied nuclear force, would come out of his talks Friday and Saturday with Mr. Kennedy.

His reaffirmation of the government's position on nuclear arms arose from a series of questions by reporters during which he was asked about a New York Times dispatch from Ottawa.

NUCLEAR PLEDGE?
The Times said that at Hyannis Port, Mass., Friday and Saturday Mr. Pearson is expected to give Mr. Kennedy a commitment to accept nuclear arms.

Mr. Pearson said no commitment would be given or had been asked. Reporters were advised later that he wanted to add something.

"I didn't mean we had weakened on what we consider to be a commitment," he said. He explained by repeating his party's election-campaign position that the former Conservative government had committed Canada to defensive nuclear roles in NATO and NORAD.

He said his earlier comments meant he did not expect any new commitments to be given or accepted at Hyannis Port.

The sort of new commitments he had in mind were those that might be involved in Canadian participation in an inter-allied or multilateral nuclear force.

Asked how long it might be before nuclear arms were acquired, Mr. Pearson replied "It will take a little time."

Before any action could be taken a bilateral agreement be-

'Liven It Up' Actor Heckles Philip

LONDON (AP)—Prince Philip stood up to make one of his after-dinner speeches. For the first time on record he got the bird. (See also Page 2.)

It came, loud and clear, from actor Tom Bell.

"Tell us a funny story,"

the prince, presenting awards at Tuesday night's annual British Film Academy dinner, was undisturbed.

So was Bell. Sitting just a few feet away from the prince he returned to the attack.

"Go on," he said. "Tell us a funny story."

"If you want a funny story," Philip said, "I suggest you engage a professional comic."

Brian Forbes and Dickie Attenborough, both top names in British movies, smothered any further contribution from Bell.

Later Leslie Caron, chosen as British actress of the year for her performance in The L-shaped Room, apologized to the prince and explained that Bell was feeling a trifle boisterous.

Earlier, however, the prince had been in lively form. He told a luncheon of the Institute of Personnel Administration that the trouble with management in Britain is too many one-ulcer men in too many two-ulcer jobs.

"That's all right," said the prince. "I took it in the right spirit."

Bell was unrepentant. He told reporters later:

"I'm not at all sorry."

"It's about time somebody told him. He should liven himself up."

Racial Situation Near Boiling Point

By DON McKEE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—This city was gripped Tuesday by growing fears and concern over gigantic demonstrations by Negroes who have mobilized en masse to protest segregation.

"It can keep building up... People can get to the boiling point," said a White store manager who, like most of those interviewed, asked that his name be withheld.

Police officials have been on edge since the first mass marches landed more than 700 Negroes in jail last Thursday. The situation could easily get out of hand," Sheriff Melvin Bailey said. When an estimated several thousand Negroes charged on downtown Birmingham Tuesday, officials feared they would not be able to maintain control.

White spectators, however, remained spectators Tuesday. What will happen next time is anybody's guess.

Bailey and other officers have said that if such demonstrations occur when rough white elements are downtown, trouble will come.

White employees of downtown stores and shoppers said they believed white persons generally wanted no violence. They said, too, they wanted the issues resolved—even at the cost of some desegregation.

"I believe it's inevitable, anyway," said a Woolworth's saleswoman, Mrs. Norma Melvin. "I'm willing to give a little."

Though closely wrapped in secrecy, talks have been going on for some time between white businessmen and Negroes. The businessmen are willing and anxious to work out the problems.

But neither they nor city officials want to deal with the "outsiders" who spearheaded the desegregation movement.

Highway Police Aid Birmingham Force

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—State officials ordered Alabama highway patrolmen into Birmingham Tuesday to help police who used fire hoses and dogs to disperse jeering crowds of Negroes.

At least nine persons were injured as police, responding to taunts from the Negroes, moved a specially equipped riot car into a city park where many of the demonstrators gathered in protest against segregation.

At least 250 patrolmen were sent to Birmingham. Governor George Wallace said at Montgomery he was "tired of the lawlessness in Birmingham and

President Hoping For Local Solution

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy voiced hope Tuesday that the potentially explosive racial situation in Birmingham, Ala., can be solved by the people of the city.

Kennedy's hopes were relayed to reporters while the administration kept a long-distance watch on the troubles in Alabama's biggest city.

The president was awaiting word on the outcome of a meeting in Birmingham between Burke Marshall, assistant attorney-general in charge of civil rights division, and various Negro and white groups.

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Brooklyn Dodgers star Jackie Robinson said Tuesday he plans to go to Birmingham, Ala., in the next week or two to take part in the mass protest against racial segregation there.

Robinson said he did not want to join the protestors in jail but that he would find some way to take part in their movement.

The Negro former baseball star made the statement at a "back our brothers" luncheon attended by more than 100 Negro and white public officials and civic leaders.

What's Hot on Hot Line? Mike Told 'Hands Off' That Yellow Telephone

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Tuesday he has a "mysterious" extra telephone in his office that he was instructed not to use until he is briefed on it.

Speaking to reporters following a cabinet meeting about the possibility of installing a direct telephone link with President Kennedy, the prime minister referred to the mystery phone "that I have not investigated."

"I am not sure what it is. I was told not to use it until I am told about it."

Informants say the extra phone, a yellow one, is a direct line to the headquarters in Colorado Springs, Colo., of the North American Air Defence Command. The NORAD phone and duplicates in the prime minister's residence and other offices were installed several months ago.

On the possibility of a "hot line" to President Kennedy, the prime minister indicated he has never had any trouble communicating with Washington in a matter of minutes.

"I've never found it necessary to have any special communication of that kind with Washington... I don't know whether any special line is in existence or not."

Pearkes To Join Pioneers

ALBERNI — Lieutenant Governor Pearkes will attend Pioneers Day festivities in Alberni.

Work of compiling of guests for the event is underway.

A well-dressed confidence man conned himself into a year in jail when he appeared in city magistrate's court yesterday on a charge of false pretences.

Spencer Foley of Vancouver obtained credit at Simpsons-Sears Ltd., 782 Yates, on March 18, by claiming he was a psychiatrist from UBC. His connection with the university was as a cleaner in the janitorial department, court learned yesterday.

Before his trial was over Foley had been sentenced to six months for contempt of court. A consecutive six-month sentence was added on the false pretences charge.

Foley jumped bail more than two weeks ago. He was subsequently picked up in Port Alberni and returned to Victoria for trial.

Four employees of Simpsons-Sears Ltd. yesterday described Foley's purchase of a $70 transistor radio and his application for credit. He had claimed to be a psychiatrist who had been transferred from UBC to Victoria University.

SPELLING TEST

When one of the clerks asked him to spell psychiatry he said he wasn't quite sure, that he "could only write it."

On the strength of his credit application Foley was given the radio. A check with Victoria University the next day disclosed the fact that his statements were false.

Store manager Thomas Billington attempted unsuccessfully to recover the radio and then called police.

Foley conducted his own defence and claimed that the sale was a "perfectly legal" one. "I just wasn't available for my first payment." He was in jail.

He said the part about being a psychiatrist was "a lot of bullsh—t" and went on to blame a Vancouver detective for causing his discharge from the UBC janitorial department because he wouldn't "stool pigeon on a jewel robbery."

LOST OUT ON JOBS

Because of this detective, he said he couldn't be bonded and lost out on jobs with two insurance companies.

"I like to live like anyone else, so I started conning it," he said.

On prompting from city prosecutor T. P. O'Grady, Foley admitted being in the confidence racket.

He explained that the best way to con from a store was to purchase an article without signing your name. "Some people are very gullible. Once you get the goods outside you're in the clear."

Asked about his posing as a psychiatrist, he replied, "Let's put it this way. In the States I've done a little psychiatry and psychology, but not in Canada."

FROM COLLEGE

He then claimed to have graduated from St. Mary's College, Boston, as a doctor of psychology in 1939.

Mr. O'Grady reminded Foley that he was under oath.

"On what aspect of psychology did you write your thesis?" Mr. O'Grady asked.

"I don't care to go into that."

The prosecutor pressed him. "Now dummy up," exploded Foley. "I don't want no more of that."

"I told you before," interrupted Magistrate William Ostler, "about your attitude," and he proceeded to warn the

Minimum Security Camp

Second Prison Slated For Sayward Forest

Work will be started in the near future on establishment of a second minimum security provincial prison camp in the Sayward Forest 35 miles northwest of Campbell River, an official in the attorney-general's department said yesterday.

The first one, construction of which began last year, was brought up to its full complement of 80 inmates a few weeks ago.

SECOND UNIT

The official said a second 80-man unit will be added soon and that the ultimate development will be five such camps containing about 300 prisoners.

A further 100 prisoners will probably be held on Vancouver Island in the former prison building now occupied as the Colquitz mental home and due to be vacated later this year.

Inmates in the Sayward Forest camps will work in conjunction with the forest service on such projects as tree planting, trail construction and removal of dead trees.

Historic War Canoe To Race at Weekend

DUNCAN — An historic war canoe changed hands during a recent meeting at which plans for the 74th annual Corpus Christi sports committee.

The dugout will race against about 16 craft from the Island and the Mainland events slated for this Saturday and Sunday.

Four Duncan area canoes will compete.

The Mount Prevost was built by Henry Williams 28 years ago from a 70-foot cedar tree hauled by horse and wagon from Lake Cowichan.

The dugout is 50 feet long. A little more than a year ago the famous canoe, champion of several races, was in danger of being sold to a buyer from Vancouver but the Indians here managed to keep it through their committee.

IN BUSINESS

Council also declined to remove the business licence of $20 a year from kindergartens because the operators, it was felt, were in business.

Only one to approve removal was Ald. H. Harris who brought the matter to council's attention, saying that Courtenay was the only centre in the province which charges kindergartens a licence.

Schedule for Saturday's Indian field sports at the Cowichan River Park area: athletics, 2 p.m.; soccer, 6 p.m. A variety show and a dance will be held at 7 and 9 p.m.

An underground sprinkling system has been installed at city hall grounds and council authorized the appointment of Jack Skyrme as part-time caretaker for the grounds for the season.

The question of whether gas pumps should be permitted in residential areas will be discussed by the lands committee.

A well-dressed confidence man conned himself into a year in jail when he appeared in city magistrate's court yesterday on a charge of false pretences.

Spencer Foley of Vancouver obtained credit at Simpsons-Sears Ltd., 782 Yates, on March 18, by claiming he was a psychiatrist from UBC. His connection with the university was as a cleaner in the janitorial department, court learned yesterday.

Before his trial was over, Foley had been sentenced to six months for contempt of court. A consecutive six-month sentence was added on the false pretences charge.

Foley jumped bail more than two weeks ago. He was subsequently picked up in Port Alberni and returned to Victoria for trial.

Four employees of Simpsons-Sears Ltd. yesterday described Foley's purchase of a $70 transistor radio and his application for credit. He had claimed to be a psychiatrist who had been transferred from UBC to Victoria University.

SPELLING TEST

When one of the clerks asked him to spell psychiatry he said he wasn't quite sure, that he "could only write it."

On the strength of his credit application Foley was given the radio. A check with Victoria University the next day disclosed the fact that his statements were false.

Store manager Thomas Billington attempted unsuccessfully to recover the radio and then called police.

Foley conducted his own defence and claimed that the sale was a "perfectly legal" one. "I just wasn't available for my first payment." He was in jail.

He said the part about being a psychiatrist was "a lot of bullsh*t" and went on to blame a Vancouver detective for causing his discharge from the UBC janitorial department because he wouldn't "stool pigeon on a jewel robbery."

LOST OUT ON JOHN

Because of this detective, he said he couldn't be bonded and lost out on jobs with two insurance companies.

"I like to live like anyone else, so I started conning it," he said.

On prompting from city prosecutor T. P. O'Grady, Foley admitted being in the confidence racket.

He explained that the best way to con from a store was to purchase an article without signing your name. "Some people are very gullible. Once you get the goods outside you're in the clear."

Asked about his posing as a psychiatrist he replied, "Let's put it this way: 'In the States I've done a little psychiatry and psychology, but not in Canada.'"

FROM COLLEGE

He then claimed to have graduated from St. Mary's College, Boston, as a doctor of psychology in 1939.

Mr. O'Grady reminded Foley that he was under oath.

"On what aspect of psychology did you write your thesis?" Mr. O'Grady asked.

"I don't care to go into that."

The prosecutor pressed him.

"Now dummy up," exploded Foley. "I don't want no more of that."

"I told you before," interrupted Magistrate William Oatler, "about your attitude, and he proceeded to warn the accused that he would be held in contempt if he did not change his tactics.

Foley refused to answer further questions and was given a six-month sentence for contempt.

Foley's record dating back 20 years was read to the court. He was sentenced to six months on the false pretences charge, to start after he has served the first sentence for contempt.

"I must admit you are shamelessly and astonishingly frank in your cynical attitude as a confidence man," Magistrate Oatler said. "You are indeed a great imposter."

Club Bid Refused

COURTENAY — Kiwanis Village Society, seeking permission to hold a canvass for funds, was told it should join United Good Neighbors and work to get its funds through the one appeal plan.

The group wants $4,000 so it can start on a $40,000 addition to its village.

ONE APPEAL

But council wasn't happy about the door-to-door drive and said the club should understand that people support United Appeal because they want one appeal, and to permit house-to-house canvasses for funds might harm the one appeal system.

Minimum Security Camp

Second Prison Slated For Sayward Forest

Work will be started in the near future on establishment of a second minimum security provincial prison camp in the Sayward Forest 35 miles northwest of Campbell River, an official in the attorney-general's department said yesterday.

The first one, construction of which began last year, was brought up to its full complement of 60 inmates a few weeks ago.

SECOND UNIT

The official said a second 60-man unit will be added soon and that the ultimate development will be five such camps containing about 300 prisoners.

A further 100 prisoners will probably be held on Vancouver Island in the former prison building now occupied as the Colquitz mental home and due to be vacated later this year.

Inmates in the Sayward Forest camps will work in conjunction with the forest service on such projects as tree planting, trail construction and removal of dead trees.

DUNCAN — An historic war canoe changed hands during a recent meeting at which plans for the 74th annual Corpus Christi Indian Sports Day and canoe races were completed.

Ferry Plans Due Soon

Blueprints for a 25-car ferry to link Courtenay with Powell River by way of Texada Island are nearing completion. Highways Minister Gagliardi said yesterday.

He said plans for the vessel are being drawn up by a Vancouver firm of marine consultants and that tenders will be called for construction as soon as they are finished.

PLANS DUE SOON

He said he expects the finished plans any day.

The ferry will be operated for a time at least as a highways department service.

Mr. Gagliardi said if one vessel cannot handle the volume of traffic arising from the new service a second will be built.

TOURIST BOOSTER

North Island residents expect the service to bolster tourist travel in their area by creating a new circle route linking Vancouver, Powell River, Courtenay and Nanaimo by means of ferries and highways.

'Mad Tyrant'

Haiti 'Must Yield'

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—President Juan Bosch denounced Haiti's President Francois Duvalier Tuesday night as a mad tyrant and stiffened Dominican demands for a settlement of the Dominican-Haitian crisis.

Following up repeated warnings that the Dominican Republic may resort to force, Bosch indicated thousands of Dominican troops backed by superior air and sea support will remain poised on the Haitian frontier until Duvalier's regime yields to Dominican terms.

NO DEADLINE
In an evening radio-television address to the nation, Bosch put no deadline on demands but said that if the United States considers the Haitian situation grave enough to evacuate Americans "we shall continue to think the problem is even more serious for us."

In Washington the state department said families of U.S. officials in Haiti will be flown out quickly because the Haitian government "to some extent seems to be falling apart." Canada and Britain acted similarly.

NOT EASY
"The situation is not easy," President Bosch said. "We don't know what will happen but we know that Duvalier has killed many people and terrorized many people and has caused several bloodbaths. We have to be careful and vigilant."

Lightning Visits Every Room

CHILLIWACK (CP)—Fred Braese was out fishing and the kids were watching television when a shaft of lightning took aim at his home Monday night.

It ripped a utility pole in two, travelled along a clothesline, blew a six-inch hole in a utility room and then split into two shafts. One hooked 80 degrees through the kitchen and out the back door. The other sundered telephone and electrical equipment into many pieces in an office attached to the home. Damage: $1,300.

Racial Situation Near Boiling Point

By DON McKEE
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—This city was gripped Tuesday by growing fears and concern over gigantic demonstrations by Negroes who have mobilized en masse to protest segregation.

"It can keep building up... People can get to the boiling point," said a white store manager who, like most of those interviewed, asked that his name be withheld.

Police officials have been on edge since the first mass marches landed more than 700 Negroes in jail last Thursday.

President Hoping For Local Solution

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy voiced hope Tuesday that the potentially explosive racial situation in Birmingham, Ala., can be solved by the people of the city.

Kennedy's hopes were relayed to reporters while the administration kept a long-distance watch on the troubles in Alabama's biggest city.

The president was awaiting word on the outcome of a meeting in Birmingham between Burke Marshall, assistant attorney-general in charge of civil rights division, and various Negro and white groups.

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Brooklyn Dodgers star Jackie Robinson said Tuesday he plans to go to Birmingham, Ala., in the next week or two to take part in the mass protest against racial segregation there.

Robinson said he did not want to join the protestors in jail but that he would find some way to take part in their movement.

The Negro former baseball star made the statement at a "back our brothers" luncheon attended by more than 100 Negro and white public officials and civic leaders.

U.K. Ship Sinks Dutch Vessel

NEW YORK (AP)—An English freighter rammed and sank a small Dutch ship Tuesday night five miles off the New Jersey coast. A crew of about 20 abandoned the smaller vessel and were picked up by the freighter.

There were no casualties.

The collision occurred at 7:50 p.m. EDT some 15 miles south of the entrance to New York harbor and off Shark River, N.J.

DISTRESS SIGNAL
The Dutch freighter, the Pinia, radioed a distress signal saying she had been struck amidships by the British ship, the City of Perth. The master of the Pinia added:

"Dutch vessel taking water, requires immediate assistance."

At 8:18 p.m. the City of Perth radioed:

SHIP ABANDONED
"Pinia crew abandoned ship and rowing to board me. Pinia listing to port."

At 8:47 p.m. the City of Perth radioed:

"City of Perth proceeding slowly back to Pinia and Dutch master going to review situation. All crew on board me. City of Perth does not require assistance. Returning New York."

WENT TO BOTTOM
The U.S. Coast Guard later reported that the Pinia had gone to the bottom.

The Pinia is a 500-ton, 194-foot vessel out of Rotterdam. The City of Perth, 485 feet and 7,547 tons, is out of Glasgow.

Parents Put Heat On Pupils

KANLOOK (CP)—A heat-the-heat plan to open a school two hours early has been shelved because some parents value sleep.

Principal A. E. Emberton of John Peterson Junior Secondary School was supported by 70 per cent of the parents but parents of students who must take buses to school, and drivers of the buses, protested the plan would mean getting up too early in the morning. No plan was shelved.

Mr. Emberton said the government would not assist in defraying the cost of air conditioning units to beat 100 degree summer heat here.

Sick Children Brutalized

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP)—Twelve were arrested Tuesday. The 13th is being sought.

Three of the workers have since left Fairview State Hospital at Costa Mesa. The remaining 10 were ordered suspended Tuesday.

The investigation was launched after three women who visited the 1,946-bed institution last March 29 called conditions in its security wards "the worst we have ever seen."

JAW BROKEN
Investigators said they uncovered instances in which attendants broke one patient's jaw and another's arm; tied a girl patient's arms behind her and whipped her unconscious; choked other patients into unconsciousness; blackened a baby's eye; pounded patients' heads against a cement floor.

GEORGETOWN—Talks by the British Guiana government and unions aimed at ending a 19-day general strike collapsed.

MOSCOW (Reuters)—A British diplomat's child was used for espionage "camouflage," a court was told Tuesday after a London businessman and a Soviet official admitted spying on Russia for the United States and Britain.

The story was told by Russian scientific official Oleg Penkovsky, 44. He and Briton Greville Wynne, also 44, pleaded guilty in Soviet Supreme Court at the start of Russia's first major spy trial since the Gary Powers U-2 spy-plane case of 1960.

FIVE AMERICANS

Penkovsky's lengthy testimony and the indictment named five Americans—including the U.S. embassy's former agricultural and assistant air attaché—as U.S. contacts of the Soviet defector. Wynne pleaded guilty with reservations.

Penkovsky said that in August, 1961, Wynne, his alleged liaison man, gave him a box of candy into which he was to put espionage films and give the box to one of the children of Mrs. Janet Ann Chisholm, wife of former British embassy official Frederick Chisholm.

According to the indictment, Mrs. Chisholm was a member of British intelligence who maintained espionage contacts with Penkovsky through Wynne.

New System Will Nab More Spies

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Macmillan proposed Tuesday night that a three-man permanent security commission be set up to determine responsibility in future spy cases and discipline lax officials concerned.

Opening a parliamentary debate on the report of a government tribunal into the sensational Vassal spy affair, Macmillan told the House of Commons new measures to tighten security would result in more spies being caught.

He also announced that in the future all subordinate staffs of army, navy and air attachés abroad would be subject to military discipline and recruited from the armed services.

'Liven It Up'

Actor Heckles Philip

LONDON (AP)—Prince Philip stood up to make one of his after-dinner speeches. For the first time on record he got the bird. (See also Page 2.)

It came, loud and clear, from actor Tom Bell.

"Tell us a funny story."

The prince, presenting awards at Tuesday night's annual British Film Academy dinner, was undisturbed.

So was Bell. Sitting just a few feet away from the prince he returned to the attack.

"Go on," he said. "Tell us a funny story."

"If you want a funny story," Philip said, "I suggest you engage a professional comic."

Brian Forbes and Dickie Attenborough, both top names in British movies, smothered any further contribution from Bell.

Later Leslie Caron, chosen as British actress of the year for her performance in The L-shaped Room, apologized to the prince and explained that Bell was feeling a trifle boisterous.

"That's all right," said the prince, "I took it in the right spirit."

Bell was unrepentant. He told reporters later: "I'm not at all sorry."

"It's about time somebody told him. He should liven himself up."

Earlier, however, the prince had been in lively form. He told a luncheon of the Institute of Personnel Administration that the trouble with management in Britain is too many one-act men in too many two-act jobs.

Canada-U.S. Nuclear Talks Near

OTTAWA (CP)—Talks with President Kennedy at Hyannis Port later this week may lead to start of negotiations with the United States on obtaining defensive nuclear weapons for Canadian forces at home and abroad, Prime Minister Pearson said Tuesday.

Mr. Pearson emphasized that his Liberal government has not weakened on a commitment to accept nuclear warheads for Canadian forces in NATO and NORAD.

He did not expect any new commitments, such as might be involved in an inter-allied nuclear force, would come out of his talks Friday and Saturday with Mr. Kennedy.

His reaffirmation of the government's position on nuclear arms arose from a series of questions by reporters during which he was asked about a New York Times dispatch from Ottawa.

NUCLEAR PLEDGE?
The Times said that at Hyannis Port, Mass., Friday and Saturday Mr. Pearson is expected to give Mr. Kennedy a commitment to accept nuclear arms.

Mr. Pearson said no commitment would be given or had been asked. Reporters were advised later that he wanted to add something.

"I didn't mean we had weakened on what we consider to be a commitment," he said. He explained by repeating his party's election-campaign position that the former Conservative government had committed Canada to defensive nuclear roles in NATO and NORAD.

He said his earlier comments meant he did not expect any new commitments to be given.

He had in mind were those that might be involved in Canadian participation in an inter-allied or multilateral nuclear force.

Asked how long it might be before nuclear arms were acquired, Mr. Pearson replied "It will take a little time."

Before any action could be taken a bilateral agreement between Canada and the United States would be required.

What's Hot on Hot Line?

Mike Told 'Hands Off' That Yellow Telephone

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Tuesday he has a "mysterious" extra telephone in his office that he was instructed not to use until he is briefed on it.

Speaking to reporters following a cabinet meeting about the possibility of installing a direct telephone link with President Kennedy, the prime minister referred to the mystery phone "that I have not investigated."

"I am not sure what it is. I was told not to use it until I am told about it."

Informants say the extra phone, a yellow one, is a direct line to the headquarters in Colorado Springs, Colo., of the North American Air Defence Command. The NORAD phone and duplicates in the prime minister's residence and other offices were installed several months ago.

On the possibility of a "hot line" to President Kennedy, the prime minister indicated he has never had any trouble communicating with Washington in a matter of minutes.

"I've never found it necessary to have any special communication of that kind with Washington... I don't know whether any special line is in existence or not."
